MARKET HIGHLIGHTS

Inflation & the FED is what has been front and center for the financial markets in the last 18 months. In fact, because during the pandemic the government and the Central Bank had to make significant liquidity inflows into the financial system in order to keep the economy going, this has created an inflation problem that to this day the FED is trying to solve. Since March of last year, the FED has raised rates 10 times bringing the Fed Fund Rate to 5 - 5.25%. Thankfully, this has been working as CPI, has come down from 9.1% to 4.9% in recent months. We continue to monitor the situation very closely as there is a possibility that all these rate hikes, might put the U.S. economy into a recession this summer. If you would like to know more on how this might affect your portfolio, get in touch with us; we will gladly offer you a complimentary analysis.
